Thriller is Michael Jackson's biggest-selling¹ single, the seventh and final release² from the 1982 eponym³ biggest-selling album ever, and accompanied by a fourteen-minute video by iconic horror-director John Landis. This is, to date⁴, the only music video included in the US National Film Registry.

The song is in the form of a ghost story, with Jackson using the present simple and second person throughout⁵, placing⁶ the listener directly in the moment. The first verse sets the scene, late at night, an ominous⁷ presence, and the protagonist frozen with fear. The next verse takes the listener inside a house, trapped⁸ and with something scary⁹ coming closer¹⁰. The tone shifts¹¹ in the third verse, with Jackson revealing that the listener is his girl-friend and they are at the cinema, with "the terror on the screen." The song ends with a chilling¹² monologue and laugh from legendary horror actor Vincent Price, revealing that the thriller is in fact the urge¹³ to dance. Price foolishly¹⁴ accepted $20,000 payment for his work instead of royalties, not expecting the song to be a hit. After all, as Jackson's record company asked, "Who wants a single about monsters?"

Written by Rod Temperton, the original title was Starlight but producer Quincy Jones asked him to rewrite it more like Edgar Allan Poe. He came up with¹⁵ Thriller and used numerous horror motifs (midnight, evil, terror, etc.) to write a song forever associated with Halloween— despite the single being released in November. ☺ cold hand: this refers to the Grim Reaper³⁷, the symbol of death.

change that number on your dial: in the 1950s, before remote controls, televisions had dials to change channels, and some radio announcers still say "Don't touch that dial." Here it means to stop being a sinner³⁸.

y'all: a contraction of 'you' and 'all'.

hounds³⁹ of hell: this refers to The Hound of the Baskervilles, the most famous Sherlock Holmes novel.

foulest⁴⁰ stench⁴¹: this refers to the smell of rotting⁴² bodies.

funk: although it can refer to a musical genre characterized by its danceable rhythms, in this context it means a 'strong and unpleasant smell'.

thriller: this can also be interpreted as a play on words or double-entendre⁴³, meaning 'thrill her'.

gonna: this is an informal contraction of 'going to' and often used in songs. This is the only tense used in the song that is not the present simple.

It's close to midnight something evil's lurking¹⁶ in the dark
 Under the moonlight
 You see a sight¹⁷ that almost stops your heart
 You try to scream
 But terror takes the sound before you make it You start to freeze as horror looks you right between the eyes You're paralyzed
 You hear the door slam¹⁸ and realize there's nowhere left to run You feel the cold hand and wonder¹⁹ if you'll ever see the sun You close your eyes and hope that this is just imagination, girl But all the while you hear a creature creepin' up²⁰ behind
 You're out of time
 They're out to get you There's demons closing in on every side
 They will possess you unless you change that number on your dial
 Now is the time for you and I to cuddle²¹ close together, yeah
 All through the night I'll save you from the terror on the screen I'll make you see

Darkness falls across the land
 The midnight hour is close at hand Creatures crawl²² in search of blood
 To terrorize y'all's neighbourhood
 And whosoever²³ shall be found Without the soul for getting down Must stand and face the hounds of hell
 And rot²⁴ inside a corpse's shell²⁵
 The foulest stench is in the air
 The funk of forty thousand years
 And grisly²⁶ ghouls²⁷ from every tomb
 Are closing²⁸ in to seal²⁹ your doom³⁰
 And though you fight to stay alive
 Your body starts to shiver³¹
 For no mere mortal can resist
 The evil of the thriller

'Cause this is thriller
 Thriller night
 And no one's gonna save you from the beast about to strike³²
 You know it's thriller, thriller night
 You're fighting for your life inside a killer, thriller

'Cause I can thrill³³ you more than any ghoul would ever dare³⁴ try
 So let me hold you tight and share a killer-diller³⁵ chiller³⁶
