

Tune Into Ireland

UNIVERSIDAD DE HUELVA, SPAIN

7th JANUARY 2009

"We would like to have another session of TuneintoIreland and TuneintoEnglish because it is an amazing way to learn vocabulary and culture. Moreover, an important point to consider is the teacher. Fergal is very nice with the students and he made us enjoy while were studying Geography and Irish language. We must sing more in class!"

Zenaida Heredia, Nuria Macías and Pilar Fernández

"In my opinion, the session was great. I liked it a lot. I've learnt some things and aspects about Ireland that I did not know, like the name of its most famous beer, Guinness and the favourite sport in the country, hurling. And also, the session was funny because we had music and all the class had to sing songs. So, I think that in the near future there should be further sessions about Ireland like this one."

Juanma Martín

"The session we had on the 7th of January about learning English and Irish history by listening to music was a really interesting lesson. We learnt a little bit more about Ireland (in my case, I knew very little about its history) and also about Irish music. I think the main objective of the lesson was achieved. I also have to say that the teacher was really friendly and interacted with us a lot, so I did not get bored"

Pablo Lameiro

"At first, we thought we had to sing karaoke and we were very embarrassed about that, but then we enjoyed the session a lot because we could all sing at the same time from our seats. Moreover, Fergal was very funny and we got involved quickly. We were very happy if we could have another class like this"
